

I’m
Sandra Kerton

Strategic Partnerships Director, Compass Group UK & Ireland

Sandra Kerton is Strategic Partnerships Director at Compass Group UK & Ireland. She brings more than 30 years of experience across Compass to the role, having recently rejoined the UK Executive team after nine years working internationally alongside country leadership teams.

Sandra is focused on keeping clients and consumers at the heart of everything Compass does and strengthening the partnerships that underpin sustainable growth. She brings broad sector expertise and a deep understanding of the UK market, combined with the international perspectives she developed during her time overseas.

Sandra believes in building long-lasting partnerships rooted in trust, with a strong focus on clients, consumers and the people behind every successful business relationship.

Outside of work, Sandra lives in Somerset with her husband and loves spending time with her family, especially her two-year-old grandson. Passionate about local produce, she also has a deep love of French food, developed over two decades spent enjoying their holiday home in the countryside outside Cognac.

COMPASS | UK&I
GROUP