CEO, Levy UK & Ireland

Matthew Lewis is Chief Executive Officer, Levy UK & Ireland, a role he took on in October 2026. Reporting into Jon Davies, Chief Executive Officer, Levy International, he leads the UK & Ireland business into its next chapter, with a clear purpose: to create meaningful impact through extraordinary experiences for its people, guests, partners, communities and the planet.

Matthew joined Levy UK & Ireland in 2022 as Chief Operating Officer, overseeing the strategic, commercial and operational success of its extensive portfolio. During that time, he built trusted partner relationships which saw the business double in size, increase its range of venue partner, launch into international territories, and retain key partnerships.

He believes in our people, builds trust through strong relationships and creates an environment where people feel valued, confident to contribute and empowered to take ownership.

Before Levy, Matthew was a driving force at The Celtic Collection, where he led the Operations, Culinary and People divisions for all properties within the multi-faceted hospitality group.

A lover of life outdoors and an avid golfer, Matthew has a career that has always been rooted in the world of sport, a lifelong connection that made Levy a natural fit.
